Futuwwa Contract for Staff & Students

Definition:

Futuwwa is a code of conduct for those that seek to emulate the Prophetic example. It has been translated as chivalry in the past, a more accurate translation would combine the characteristics of bravery, integrity, generosity, humility, service, kindness, steadfastness, loyalty and personal discipline.

Contract:

Each student enrolled at Cambridge Muslim College has been chosen so that he/she can serve the Muslim community with the highest personal ethical standards. Each staff member has been employed because they share the colleges values and vision for the Muslim community. It is with this in mind, that the CMC asks its students and staff to sign the Futuwwa Contract, in which he/she pledges to:

1. Act at all times with the highest moral character; online and in person.
2. To be straightforward with sincerity and truthfulness
3. To be aware of and have regret for our own faults, rather than finding fault with others.
4. To seek help and support when needed through the channels provided.
5. Deal politely, fairly and honestly with my fellows, students, staff, faculty and visitors alike.
6. Be helpful at all times, even when not asked
7. To take initiative in service of one another and the college.
8. To maintain cleanliness and beauty in college and in the accommodation provided.
9. To be prompt, and punctual and always keep good time.
10. Meet all deadlines for work to be submitted
11. Abide by the college's policies
12. Make best use of one's time while at the College
13. Do khidmah duty when assigned, and help if needed
14. Exhibit the best Islamic behaviour in public and private
15. To observe confidentiality and maintain the good reputation of one another and the CMC.
16. To uphold the principle and practice of the sacred inviolability of every person who engages with the CMC as established by the noble Prophet.

Testimony:

I, _____, agree to abide by the above terms and conditions, to represent my deen, my community and Cambridge Muslim College, with only the best Islamic behaviour.
